Jury Trial Requested

DECLARATION OF MICHAEL W. SLOCUMB IN SUPPORT OF MOTION FOR TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER

1. My name is Michael W. Slocumb. I am over the age of 18 years and have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.

2. I am admitted to practice law in the following states: Alabama; Georgia; Illinois; and the District of Columbia. I am also admitted in the following United States district courts: Middle District of Alabama; Northern District of Alabama; and Southern District of Alabama. I have never been disciplined by any disciplinary authority and I have never been sued for malpractice. I have represented thousands of clients, served as first chair trial counsel in numerous jury trials, had multiple million-dollar recoveries in individual cases and grossed more than $40 million for my clients in the last few years alone.

3. I am the founder and senior partner of the Slocumb Law Firm, LLC, an Alabama limited liability company. The Slocumb Law Firm has physical offices in the following locations: Auburn and Birmingham, Alabama; Washington, D.C.; Baltimore, Maryland; and Chicago, Illinois. The practice of the Slocumb Law Firm is limited to representing plaintiffs in personal injury cases on a contingency fee basis.

4. I hired the individual defendants, Zeke Roeser (hired June 2009), Morgan Whitlock (hired November 2010) and Kevin Gracie (hired June 2011) to work in my firm's District of Columbia office (hereinafter the "individual defendants."). There was no written employment agreement with the individual defendants.

5. The duties of the individual defendants included administrative matters, such as collecting medical records from medical providers, corresponding with insurance carriers and obtaining further information from my firm's clients in matters that had not yet been filed. I was the direct supervisor of the individual defendants while they were employed by my firm and I made all decisions regarding the developments in the cases.

6. The duties of the individual defendants did not include business development. Business development for my firm is conducted by a sophisticated multi-state advertising campaign that has cost millions of dollars to solicit and identify clients with valuable claims, paid for by my firm. Before taking on new clients my firm assesses whether or not the claims of a potential client have substantial merit and whether or not they will generate fees, and if so, approximately how much. My firm's web site may be found at: <http://www.slocumblaw.com>.

7. None of the individual defendants had a direct attorney-client relationship with any of my firm's clients. All retainer agreements were between my firm and the clients; not between the individual defendants and the clients.

8. The identities, contact information and nature of my firm's clients' legal claims are not public (none of my firm's cases at issue in this litigation have been yet filed in a court). There is no way, thus, for anyone other than me, my firm and its employees to know the identity of my firm's clients. Indeed, this information is held in the strictest confidence both because of the attorney-client privilege between my firm and its clients and because the claims involve highly personal medical information. As my firm's prior work identifying similar clients has generated millions of dollars in fees, other lawyers would like to know the clients that my firm has agreed to represent so that the other lawyers could offer to represent my firm's clients and obtain those fees, the time-consuming evaluation and preparation work being largely completed. Accordingly, information concerning my firm's clients is highly valuable to my firm also because it cannot be ascertained by a competitor.

9. As a result of the highly confidential nature of this information, my firm operates, among other things, an internal case tracking software called "Needles" to maintain the confidentiality of the information. The Needles software is password protected. Access to my firm's physical files requires passkeys to enter the building in the District of Columbia, the office is locked and the physical files are contained in lockable file cabinets.

10. Defendants' only means of obtaining information concerning the identities, contact information and nature of my firm's clients' legal claims is through their employment by my firm.

11. In the evening of Friday, October 7, 2011, I received emails from Defendants Roeser and Whitlock resigning their employment. Attached hereto as Exhibits 1 and 2 are copies of those emails.

12. Suspicious of the timing of the resignations, I began contacting clients with high-value cases after receiving the resignations on October 7. One of those clients confirmed that he had previously been solicited by Defendant Whitlock. A redacted copy of that client's retainer agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit 3. At 1:30 am the next morning, Mr. Roeser emailed me a letter instructing me to attempt no further contact with my client. A copy of Mr. Roeser's letter is attached hereto as Exhibit 4.

13. I subsequently received notice of termination of representation letters from my clients with whom Defendants Roeser and Whitlock had direct contact. Attached as Exhibit 5 is a redacted copy of a representative termination letter. Attached hereto as Exhibit 6 is the corresponding redacted retainer letter for that client who terminated me to be represented by Defendants.

14. On October 8 I received an email from Defendant Gracie resigning his employment. A copy of that letter is attached hereto as Exhibit 7.

15. Shortly after receiving Mr. Gracie's resignation, I began receiving notice letters from my firm's clients that Mr. Gracie had been assigned to service. Attached hereto as Exhibit 8 is the redacted notice letter from one such client, with the redacted retainer for that client attached as Exhibit 9.

16. Upon investigation of the circumstances in this case I discovered information demonstrating that Defendants began contacting my firm's clients while still employed by my firm before they resigned and they had established their practice before they left my firm's employment. Attached hereto as Exhibit 10 is a redacted "Needles" report on a telephone message for Defendant Roeser showing that he made contact with one of my firm's clients while still employed to meet with that client after business hours on the Friday of the Columbus Day holiday weekend. Attached hereto as Exhibit 11 is the registration showing that the individuals reserved the domain name for Defendant Roeser & Whitlock eleven days before they resigned.

17. On October 8, through counsel, I instructed the Defendants to cease and desist using my firm's confidential information. A copy of that cease and desist letter is attached hereto as Exhibit 12.

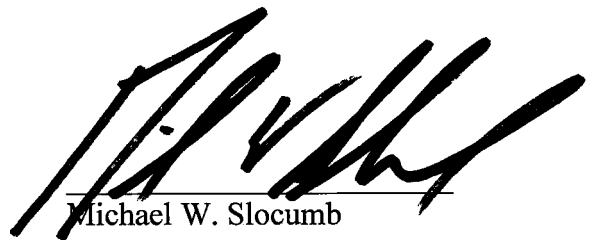

18. My firm has suffered and is continuing to suffer loss of clients as a result of Defendants' use of its confidential client information. In 2010 alone, my firm invested approximately $1.5 million in its District of Columbia office. To date, approximately 32 clients have terminated my firm's services in favor of being represented by Defendants. The recovery from these clients is estimated by me to be from $2,500 to $1,000,000 each, and there are approximately 500 additional cases to which Defendants had access.

19. There is no adequate remedy for my firm absent immediate action by this Court. With each passing day Defendants continue to avail themselves of my firm's confidential information. They have ignored my cease and desist notice. As a trial judge knows, every case is unique, and the recovery for every individual plaintiff is determinant upon many factors, chief amongst which is the quality of the counsel.

20. None of the individual defendants has ever served as first chair in a trial. My firm's clients, thus, are being solicited by attorneys without the necessary experience to handle their cases. Defendants Roeser and Whitlock were on notice of their poor performance with my firm. Attached as Exhibits 13 and 14 are their performance evaluations. Furthermore, Defendant Roeser has been the subject of three Bar Complaints with the District of Columbia Bar Counsel related to client neglect and I am concerned that any clients taken by Mr. Roeser will suffer because they will not have the benefit of supervision of their cases by a responsive attorney. Because of the confidential nature of the Bar disciplinary process I cannot attach the Complaints, but am able to provide them to the Court for in camera inspection upon request.

21. I do not believe that my firm's clients are being informed of the comparative merits of representation by inexperienced associates operating without supervision or direction versus remaining with a seasoned trial attorney. Attached as Exhibit 15 is a copy of a redacted solicitation letter. This letter misleadingly states that the individual defendant worked as the client's attorney when, in fact, the individuals being solicited were solely my clients.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed on

It is hereby agreed by and between SLOCUMB LAW FIRM, LLC, [hereinafter "Attorney"] and _____ [hereinafter "Client"], that Attorney will represent Client(s) in his/her/their claim for damages against _____ and others arising from personal injuries received in a motor vehicle accident which occurred on 5/24/11.

2. ATTORNEY'S FEES. Client hereby agrees to pay Attorney's fees equal to ~~forty percent (40%)~~ ^{35%} of the gross proceeds of any recovery. NO RECOVERY—NO ATTORNEY'S FEES. It is agreed and understood that this employment is upon a contingent fee basis, and if no recovery is made, Client will not owe Attorney and Attorney's fees.

3. CASE EXPENSES. Attorney shall be reimbursed for any and all expenses incurred on Client's case assuming there is a recovery. Said expenses shall include but not be limited to long distance telephone calls, filing costs, investigative expenses, photo copy costs, travel expenses, including use of automobiles and private or commercial aircraft, court reporting expenses, and any other expenses incurred in representing Client regarding the claim referenced herein. Such costs and expenses shall be deducted from Client's percentage of any recover effected in this cause, after Attorney's fees have been deducted from the gross proceeds. Furthermore, if there is no recovery, Attorney agrees there will be no charge for said costs and expenses.

4. RIGHT TO WITHDRAW FROM REPRESENTATION. If after investigating this matter, or at any stage in the litigation, Attorney determines that it wishes to withdraw from representation, Attorney may withdraw as counsel for Client after giving written notice to Client.

5. QUANTUM MERUIT. In the event this agreement is terminated at the instance of Client, in that event Attorney shall be entitled to recover from Client all reasonable Attorney's fees and costs for the work performed to time of termination based upon the doctrine of quantum meruit. In the event Client terminates this agreement after Attorney has obtained an offer of settlement, Attorney shall be entitled to Attorney's fees as stated herein as applied to the last offer of settlement obtained by Attorney. In the event no settlement offer has been made, Attorney shall be compensated at an hourly rate of $350.00 for work performed from inception of the case until termination by Client.

6. AUTHORITY TO COMPROMISE/SETTLE CLAIM. Attorney and Client both agree that the case may not be settled without the consent of Client and Attorney. Client hereby authorizes Attorney to negotiate Client's claim/case. Client further authorizes Attorney to negotiate, on behalf of Client, reductions in any subrogation claims, lien interests, hospital bills and other bills incurred by client.

7. ASSOCIATION OF COUNSEL. Attorney may associate other counsel to assist in the prosecution of Client's claim so long as such association is disclosed to Client.

8. STRUCTURED SETTLEMENT. Should Client's case be resolved through a structured settlement whereby defendant or its insurer makes a lump sum payment followed by periodic payments over a term of years or for the life of Client, the Attorney's fees shall be computed in accordance with the percentage agreed to herein, which shall then be applied either to the present cash value of the lump sum payment plus the present cash value of any such future benefits or to the cost to the defendant or the defendant's insurer(s) of all such payments, at the option of the Attorney.

9. NO GUARANTEES. It is understood that Attorney has made no guarantees or representations whatsoever to Client as to what amount, if any, will be recovered as a result of Attorney's efforts.

10. RIGHT TO PRIVACY. I understand that federal law (HIPAA) provides a right to privacy regarding my medical records. Because I have retained Attorney to handle my personal injury claim and due to the fact that my medical records are required in pursuit of said claim, I hereby authorize my Attorney to disclose any and all medical information they obtain pursuant to the authorization for release of medical records and information that I have executed.

11. LIMITED POWER OF ATTORNEY. Client hereby grants Attorney a limited power of Attorney to endorse the Client's name to any checks or drafts received by Attorney in settlement of any and all claims pursued by Attorney on behalf of Client for placement of said funds into trust for Client's benefit.

Dear Mike,

Please see the attached letters from our clients,

It has come to our attention that you have contacted our clients on the evening of October 7, 2011 and asserted that we were terminated from Slocumb Law Firm when, as you know, we resigned voluntarily, as evidenced by the attached resignation letters. It has further come to our attention that you have asserted to our clients that we have violated ethical rules in our dealings with them. These assertions are themselves grave ethical violations.

We trust that upon receipt of these letters and future letters you will forebear from contacting our clients. Failure to do so will place you in violation of D.C. Rule of Professional Conduct 4.2(a), which prohibits communication with represented persons without those persons' attorney's consent. Moreover, it will constitute tortious interference with the contracts executed between our clients and Roeser & Whitlock, LLP.

Further, we trust that upon receipt of these letters that you will forebear from misrepresenting the nature of our departure or besmirching us as attorneys. Failure to do so will place you, and has placed you, in violation of D.C. Rule of Professional Responsibility 8.4(c), which prohibits "dishonesty, fraud, deceit or misrepresentation." Moreover, it will constitute defamation.

Be assured that we will protect our rights to the fullest in this and future matters. Govern yourself accordingly.

Thank you,

Morgan A. Whitlock

I am writing on behalf of my client, the Slocumb Law Firm, LLC. I am in receipt of and have reviewed your correspondence of October 8, 2011. As a preliminary matter, your reliance upon D.C. Rule of Professional Conduct 4.2(a) is misplaced. While your simplistic reading of the rule is technically accurate, the implications of the rule are lost in the simplistic reading. It is clear that the intent and purpose of the rule is to protect a person from communications by a lawyer who represents an adverse party. The communications by the Slocumb Law Firm, LLC to its clients are not impacted by this rule. Comments 1 & 2 to the rule will be instructive to your full understanding of the rule.

Furthermore, while the entirety of your conduct with respect to the clients of the Slocumb Law Firm, LLC are not known at this time, the attachments to your correspondence give rise to the concern that you have engaged and may be engaging in the direct solicitation of the clients of the Slocumb Law Firm, LLC. When you terminated your employment with the Slocumb Law Firm, LLC, you terminated your relationship with the clients of the firm. Any future communication with the Firm's clients runs contrary to D.C. Rule of Professional Conduct 7.1. Moreover, you have correctly identified that the conduct at issue gives rise to tortious interference; you have however failed to recognize that it is your communications with clients of the Slocumb Law Firm, LLC that is tortious.

Please be advised that the Slocumb Law Firm, LLC intends to protect its rights. You are hereby notified that you should cease and desist any present or future contact or communications with any clients of the Slocumb Law Firm, LLC. With respect to Devel Walley, Craig Custis and Dameon Johnson, it appears that you have already tortiously interfered. At a minimum these clients are entitled to a full disclosure concerning your actions, the Slocumb Law Firm, LLC intends to make that disclosure.

Please let me know if you wish to discuss this matter further but in any event we will anticipate you're refraining from further contact with the clients of the Slocumb Law Firm, LLC. Be additionally advised that you will soon be hearing from Scott Michael Speagle of Webster Henry Lyons White Bradwell & Black, P.C., concerning your conduct in Virginia and Maryland.

Very truly yours,

F. Jerome Tapley
